

Editor

Reading a document, and editing its source with the preview alongside.

Reading

Reading

A first-class mode

Preview only, for whoever never opens the source.

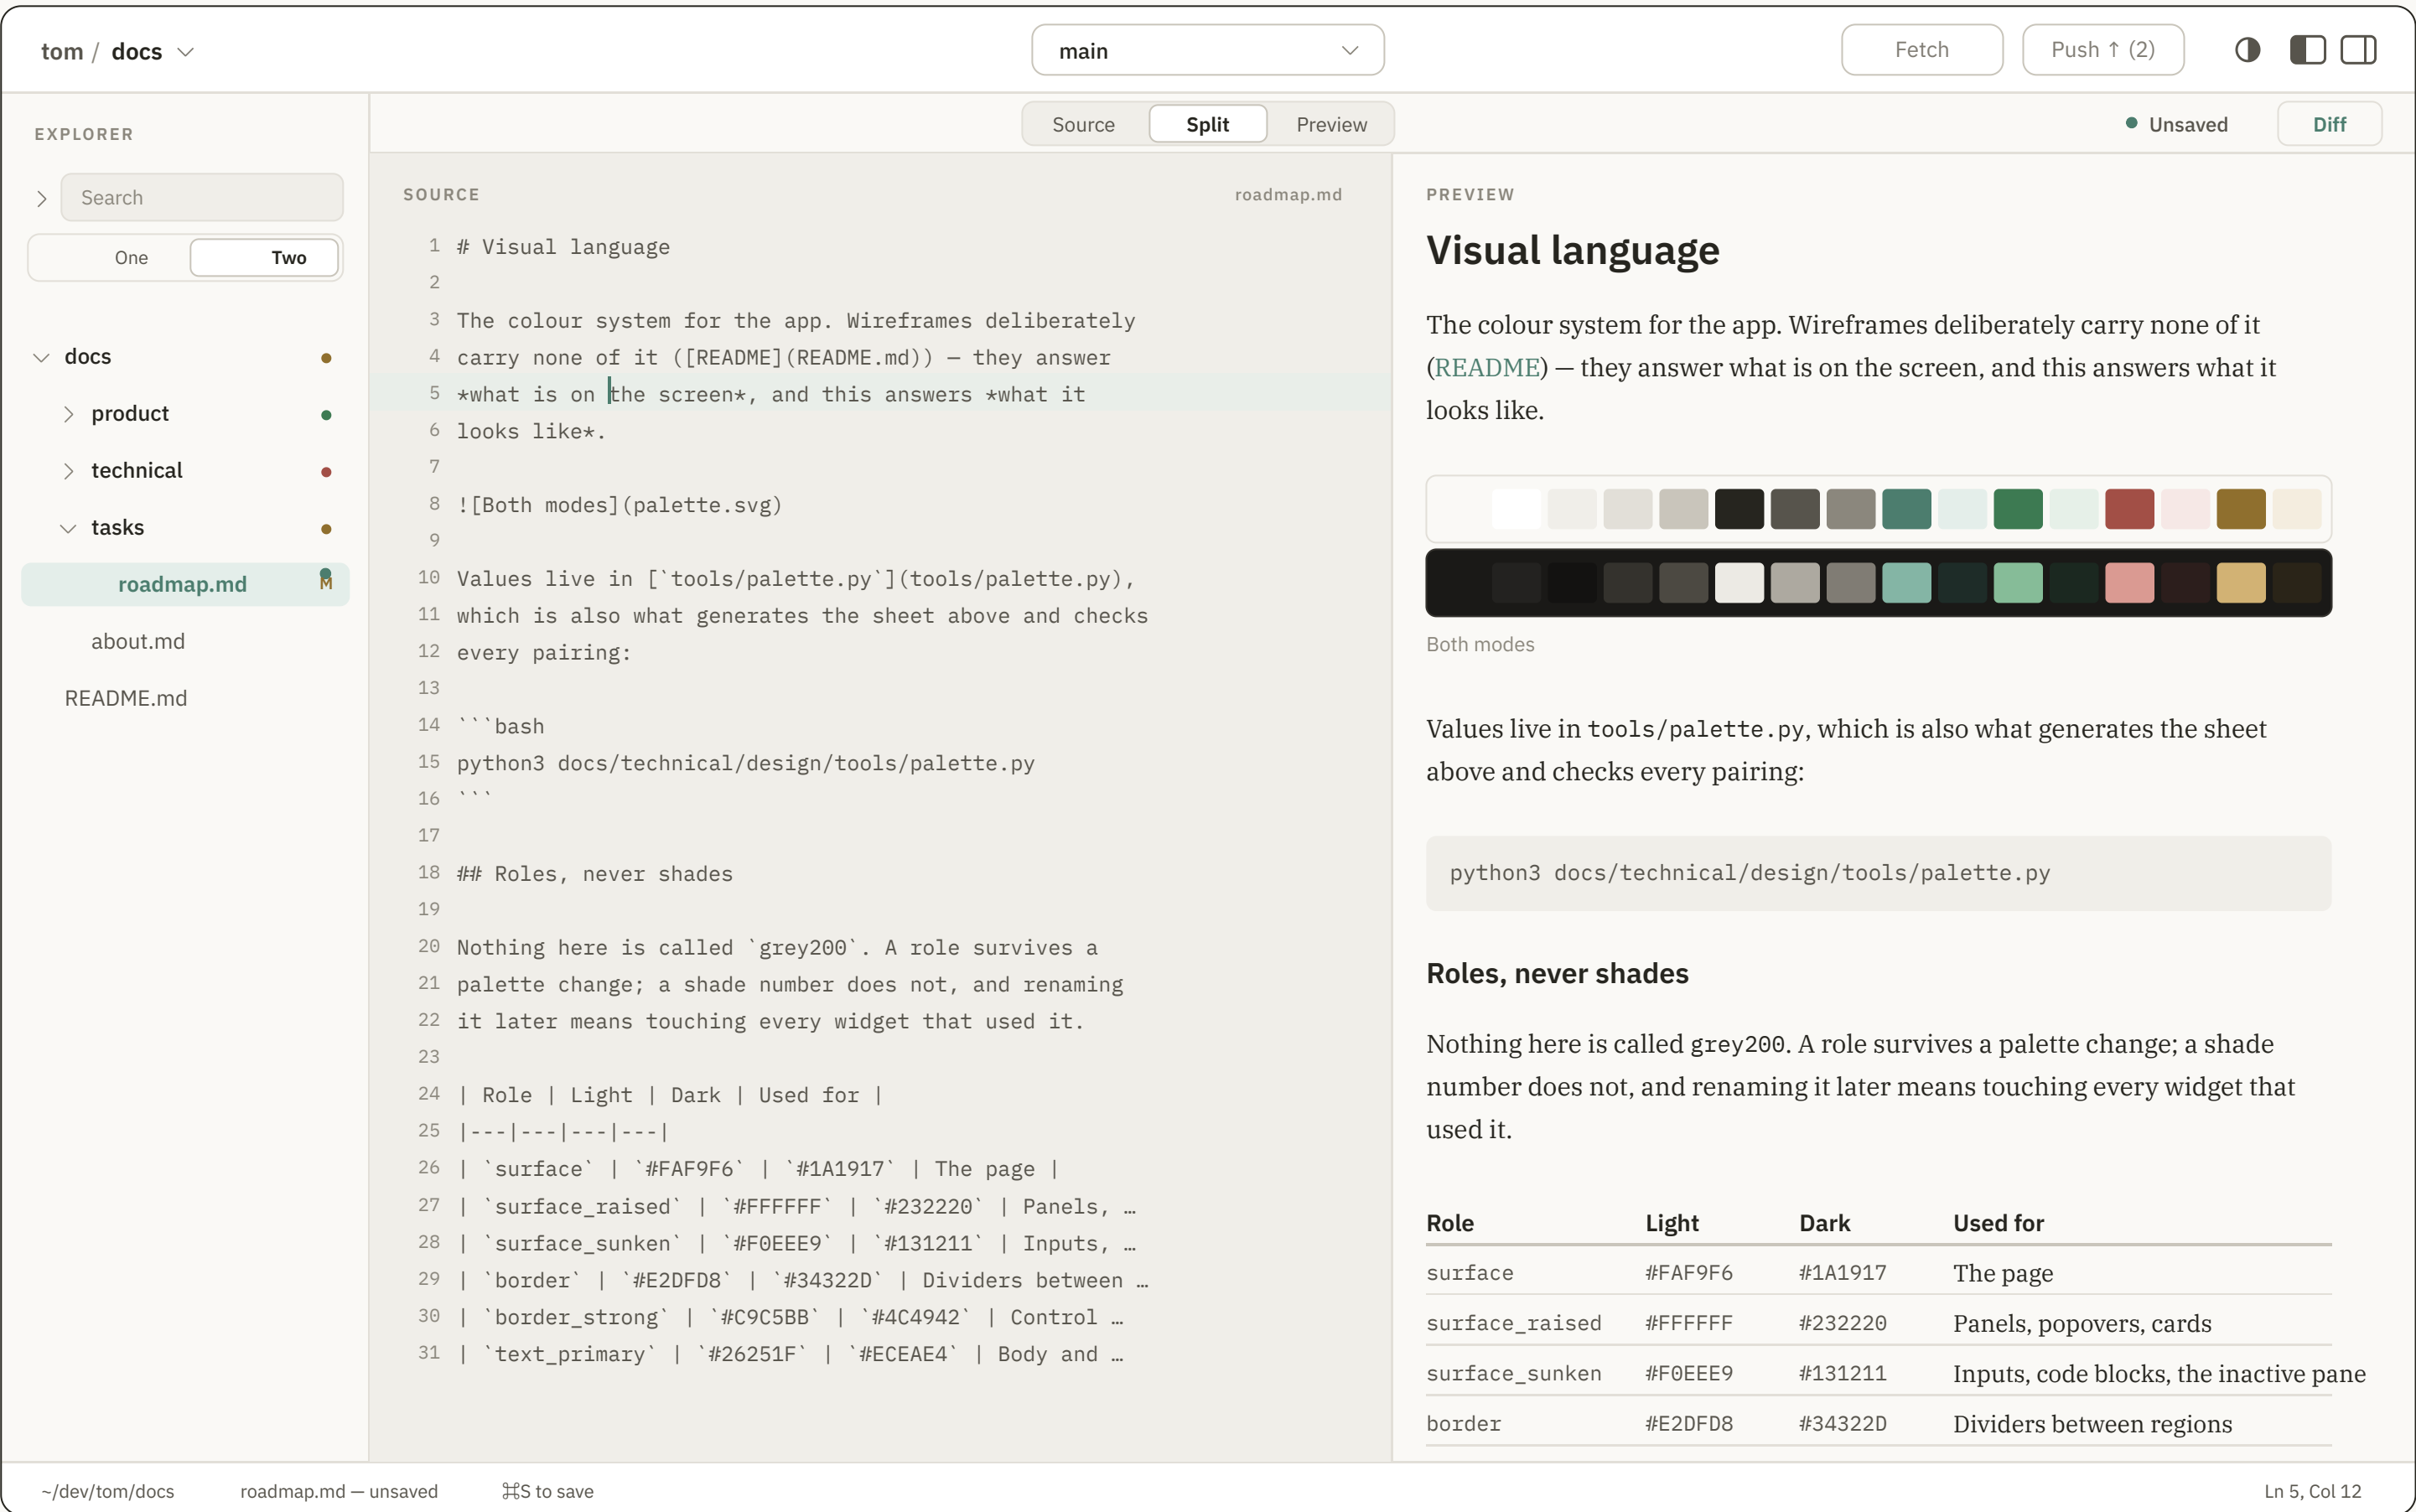

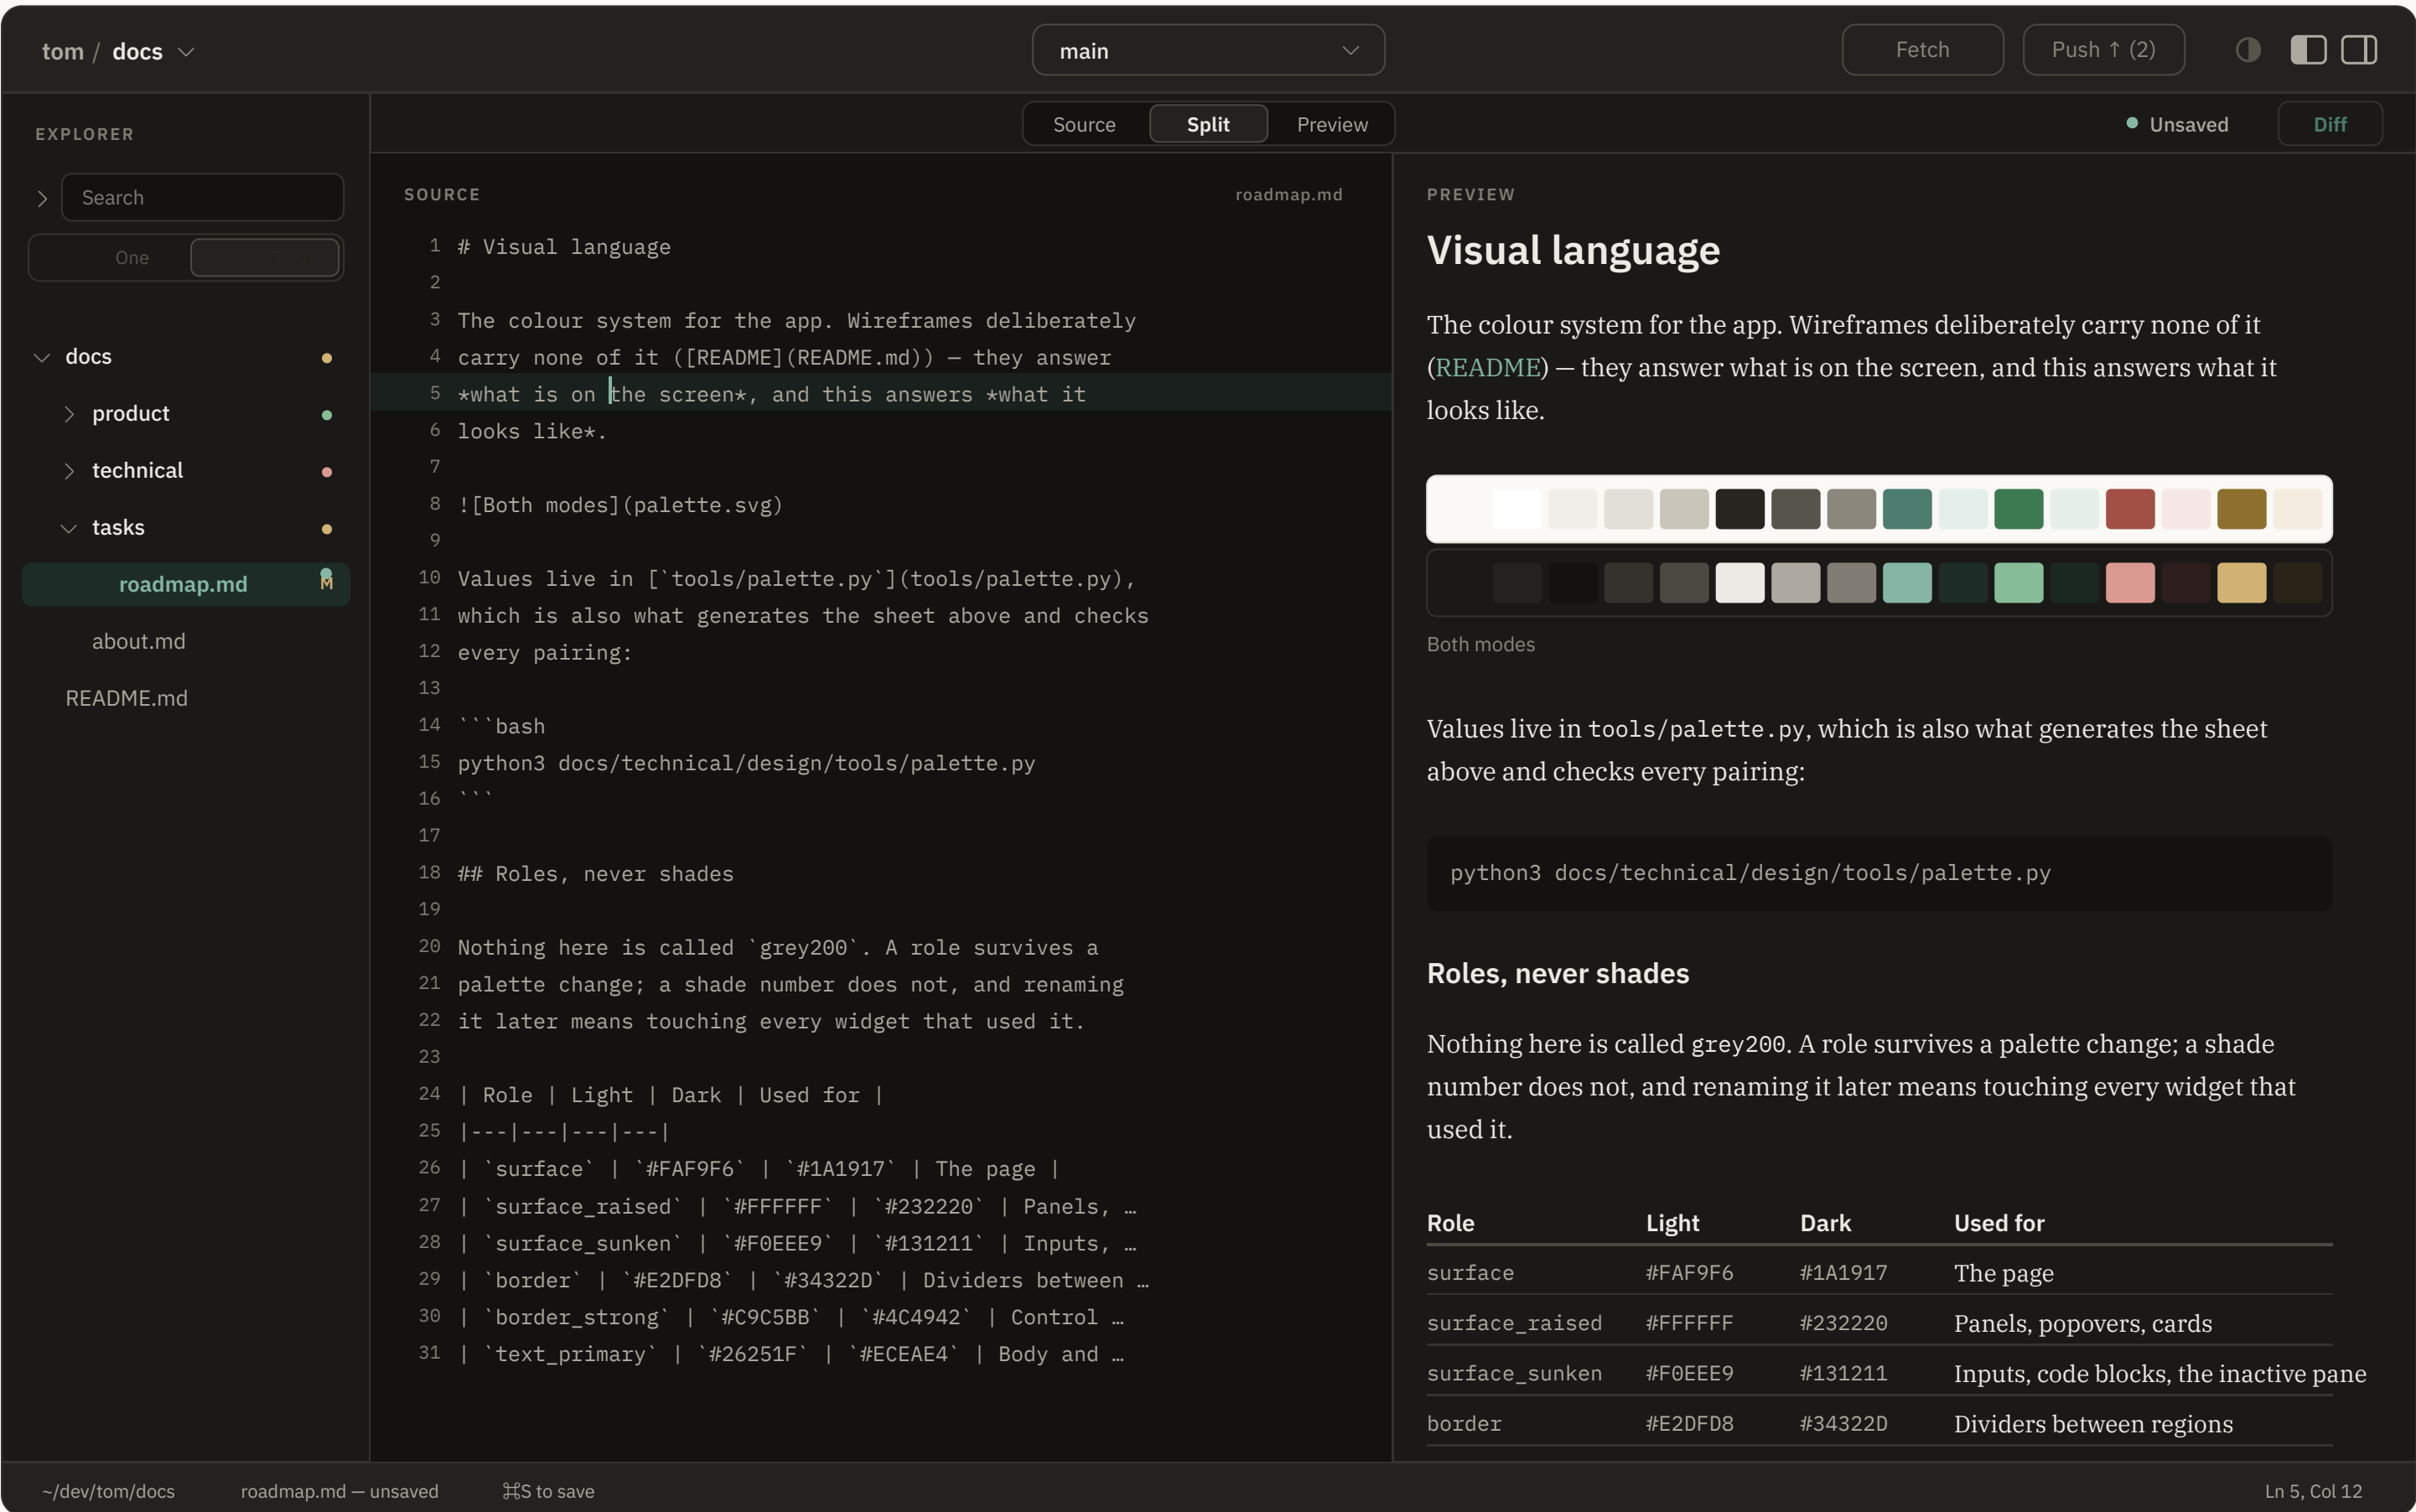

Set wider, set larger

With the pane to itself the measure grows: reading is not a lesser mode.

Everything renders

Headings, lists, tables, highlighted code, local images and links.

Unsaved changes

Unsaved changes

Said in three places

A dot in the tree, "Unsaved" beside the modes, and the shortcut in the status bar.

A refusal reads differently

"Not saved" is different news from an edit that simply has not been written yet.

The file is the true copy

Saving writes the buffer to disk; the app holds no state a reload could not rebuild.

Three ways of looking

Source, Split and Preview, and the choice belongs to the window, not the document.